BACKGROUND

The Public Works Acceleration Act authorizes Federal grants -in-aid of from 50 to 75 percent of the cost of projects to local agencies to accelerate or initiate public works projects intended to provide immediate useful work for the unemployed and underemployed in eligible areas of the Nation. Eligible areas are (1) those areas which the Secretary of Labor designates each month as having been areas of substantial unemployment for at least 9 of the preceding 12 months and (2) those areas which are designated by the Secretary of Commerce under subsections (a) and (b) of section 5 of the Area Redevelopment Act as "redevelopment areas."

In determining whether a condition of substantial unemployment exists, the Secretary of Labor considers (1) whether the area has a labor surplus which is expected to continue for the next 2 to 4 months, (2) whether an unemployment rate of 6 or more percent of the total work force exists, (3) whether net non-agricultural labor requirements for 2 and 4 months hence indicate declining employment levels or no significant increase in labor requirements, and (4) whether the current or anticipated labor surplus is due primarily to seasonal or temporary factors. Lists of newly designated and terminated areas are published monthly by the Department of Labor in its publican "Area Labor Market Trends," At its request, ARA is informally advised by the Department of Labor, 10 or 15 days before the release of the Area Labor Market Trends, of the areas which are due to have their eligibility for accelerated public works (APW) assistance terminated because they are no longer burdened by substantial unemployment. ARA informally notifies the agencies administering the grant programs, such as CFA and PHS, of the impending terminations.

Certain areas have been designated by ARA as "redevelopment areas" on the basis of unemployment criteria set forth in section 5 of the Area Redevelopment Act. These designations are based on the findings of the Secretary of Labor with respect to area unemployment rates, both current and past. Redevelopment areas also designated on other criteria, such as family income.

The unemployment criteria for designating an area as a redevelopment area under section 5 of the Area Redevelopment Act are as follows:

1. The rate of unemployment, excluding unemployment due primarily to temporary or seasonal factors, is currently 6 percent or more and averaged at least 6 percent for the qualifying time periods specified in (2) below.

2. The annual average rate of unemployment has been at least:

(a) 50 per cent above the national average for 3 of the preceding 4 calendar years, or (b) 75 percent above the national average for 2 of the preceding 3 calendar years, or

(c) 100 percent above the national average for 1 of the preceding 2 calendar years.

Pursuant to the regulations issued by the Secretary of Commerce, ARA has the responsibility of terminating the designation of a redevelopment area when there has been such improvement in the economic circumstances of the area that it no longer meets the standards for designation as a redevelopment area. With respect to areas designated under standards of unemployment, the regulations specify that an area may not be terminated unless there has been a significant reduction in the rate of unemployment and such reduction in the rate of unemployment has continued for a reasonable period of time.

The reasonable period of time has ranged from 7 months to over 10 months and has averaged 9 months for such terminations to date. ARA notifies the areas and participating Federal agencies of such pending terminations. Accordingly, the participating Federal agencies are aware which areas are under consideration for termination many months before such termination.

Project approval and grant agreement proce-

Under regulations issued by the Department of Commerce (44 CFR 801), ARA has been designated to evaluate and coordinate the APW program. In addition, these regulations provide that all prospective projects, prior to any final commitment of funds, will be reviewed by ARA to assure that (1) adequate consideration is given to the relative needs of eligible areas, (2) at least one third of all APW funds are allocated to small urban and rural areas designated under section 5(b) of the Area Redevelopment Act, and (3) no more than 10 percent of all amounts allocated under the Public Works Acceleration Act are made available to any one State. Prior to ARA review, however, the prospective projects are reviewed by a joint conference composed of representatives of the Federal agencies participating in the APW program. The approval action of the joint conference is known as programing. The programing action is followed by ARA clearance. The participating Federal agencies are advised of ARA clearance by memoran-

APW grants are made by the Federal agencies which administer the law under which the assistance is rendered. Accordingly, the head of the Federal agency normally approves the grants made by his agency.

Congress is considering the creation of a commission to undertake a comprehensive review of the laws, regulations, directives and systems which have grown up during the past two decades around the procurement of goods and services by the federal government from private industry. The commission would include, besides members of Congress, representatives of the executive branch, nongovernmental authorities and industry executives. Such a commission could help eliminate unnecessary authorities and industry executives. Such a commission could help eliminate unnecessary paper work, overlapping procedures, and time-consuming regulatory requirements. This should hold down costs of goods and services, with a consequent reduction in tax load.

BACKGROUND

The Public Works Acceleration Act authorizes Federal grants -in-aid of from 50 to 75 percent of the cost of projects to local agencies to accelerate or initiate public works projects intended to provide immediate useful work for the unemployed and underemployed in eligible areas of the Nation. Eligible areas are (1) those areas which the Secretary of Labor designates each month as having been areas of substantial unemployment for at least 9 of the preceding 12 months and (2) those areas which are designated by the Secretary of Commerce under subsections (a) and (b) of section 5 of the Area Redevelopment Act as "redevelop-

In determining whether a condition of substantial unemployment exists, the Secretary of Labor considers (1) whether the area has a labor surplus which is expected to continue for the next 2 to 4 months, (2) whether an unemployment rate of 6 or more percent of the total work force exists, (3) whether net non-agricultural labor requirements for 2 and 4 months hence indicate declining employment levels or no significant increase in labor requirements, and (4) whether the current or anticipated labor surplus is due primarily to seasonal or temporary factors. Lists of newly designated and terminated areas are published monthly by the Department of Labor in its publican "Area Labor Market Trends." At its request, ARA is informally advised by the Department of Labor, 10 or 15 days before the release of the Area Labor Market Trends, of the areas which are due to have their eligibility for accelerated public works (APW) assistance terminated because they are no longer burdened by substantial unemployment. ARA informally notifies the agencies administering the grant programs, such as CFA and PHS, of the impending terminations.

Certain areas have been designated by ARA as "redevelopment areas" on the basis of unemployment criteria set forth in section 5 of the Area Redevelopment Act. These designations are based on the findings of the Secretary of Labor with respect to area unemployment rates, both current and past. Redevelopment areas also designated on other criteria, such as family income.

The unemployment criteria for designating an area as a redevelopment area under section 5 of the Area Redevelopment Act are as follows: 1. The rate of unemployment, excluding unemployment due primarily to temporary or seasonal factors, is currently 6 percent or more and averaged at least 6 percent for the qualifying time periods specified in (2) below. 2. The annual average rate of unemployment has been at least:

(a) 50 per cent above the national average for 3 of the preceding 4 calendar years, or

(b) 75 percent above the national average for 2 of the preceding 3 calendar years, or (c) 100 percent above the national average for

tary of Commerce, ARA has the responsibility of terminating the designation of a redevelopment area when there has been such improvement in the economic circumstances of the area that it no longer meets the standards for designation as a redevelopment area. With respect to areas designated under standards of unemployment, the regulations specify that an area may not be terminated unless there has been a significant reduction in the rate of unemployment and such reduction in the rate of unemployment has continued for a reasonable period of time.

The reasonable period of time has ranged from 7 months to over 10 months and has averaged 9 months for such terminations to date. ARA notifies the areas and participating Federal agencies of such pending terminations. Accordingly, the participating Federal agencies are aware which areas are under consideration for termination many months before such termination.

Project approval and grant agreement proce-

Under regulations issued by the Department of Commerce (44 CFR 801), ARA has been designated to evaluate and coordinate the APW program. In addition, these regulations provide that all prospective projects, prior to any final commitment of funds, will be reviewed by ARA to assure that (1) adequate consideration is given to the relative needs of eligible areas, (2) at least one third of all APW funds are allocated to small urban and rural areas designated under section 5(b) of the Area Redevelopment Act, and (3) no more than 10 percent of all amounts allocated under the Public Works Acceleration Act are made available to any one State.

Prior to ARA review, however, the prospective projects are reviewed by a joint conference composed of representatives of the Federal agencies participating in the APW program. The approval action of the joint conference is known as programing. The programing action is followed by ARA clearance. The participating Federal agencies are advised of ARA clearance by memoran-

APW grants are made by the Federal agencies which administer the law under which the assistance is rendered. Accordingly, the head of the Federal agency normally approves the grants made by his agency.

After an application for an APW project is fully processed, cleared, and approved, a document is generally prepared which states that the Federal Government offers to make a grant to a particular municipality or public body for a spec-Boo! Congress is considering the creation of a commission to undertake a comprehensive review of the laws, regulations, directives and systems which have grown up during the past two decades around the procurement of goods and services by the federal government from private industry. The commission would include, besides members of Congress, representatives of the executive branch, nongovernmental authorities and industry executives. Such a commission could help eliminate unnecessary authorities and industry executives. Such a commission could help eliminate unnecessary paper work, overlapping procedures, and time-consuming regulatory requirements. This should hold down costs of goods and services, with a consequent reduction in tax load.

Learn the seven warning signals of cancer. You'll be in good company.

1. Unusual bleeding or discharge.

2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere.

3. A sore that does not heal.

4. Change in bowel or bladder habits.

6. Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing

5. Hoarseness or cough.

If a signal lasts longer than two weeks, see your doctor without delay.

7. Change in a wart or mole.

If You Were the Judge

Bachelor Can't Stop Invasion of Women

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

When Bachelor Bob learned that a lady's club was about to buy a house directly across the street from his house, he became horrified. When he discovered that the club consisted of 1,000 women, he reacted like he had been shot in the back. Frantically, he checked the zoning regulations in the area and, to his relief, found that the area was restricted to one-family residences, schools, churches and private clubs. Galloping off to court, Bob demanded an order restraining the females from buying the house:

"He can't stop us from buying the house," insisted the ladies in court, "because we're not violating the zoning regulations. We're a private club! We support literary and scientific activities and we're nonprofit."

"I believe in clubs for women," was Bob's answer, "but only when kindness fails. With 1,000 members, they haven't got a club. They've got a convention!" IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you consider it in viola. tion of the zoning regulations for the horde of women to buy the house? This is how the judge ruled: NO! He held that the number of its members did not change the nature of the organization; that their functions clearly indicated it was a private club and, consequently, its purchase of the house would not be in violation of the zoning regulations which permitted private clubs. (Based upon a 1953 Texas Court of Civil Appeals Decision)

If You Were the Judge

Bachelor Can't Stop Invasion of Women

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

When Bachelor Bob learned that a lady's club was about to buy a house directly across the street from his house, he became horrified. When he discovered that the club consisted of 1,000 women, he reacted like he had been shot in the back. Frantically, he checked the zoning regulations in the area and, to his relief, found that the area was restricted to one-family residences, schools, churches and private clubs. Galloping off to court, Bob demanded an order restraining the females from buying the house: "He can't stop us from buying the house," insisted the ladies in court, "because we're not violating the zoning regulations. We're a private club! We support literary and scientific activities and we're nonprofit."

"I believe in clubs for women," was Bob's answer, "but only when kindness fails. With 1,000 members, they haven't got a club. They've got a convention!"

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you consider it in viola. tion of the zoning regulations for the horde of women to buy the house?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! He held that the number of its members did not change the nature of the organization; that their functions clearly indicated it was a private club and, consequently, its purchase of the house would not be in violation of the zoning regulations which permitted private clubs.

Yard Beauty To Be Judged

NEW MADRID - Mrs. Caroline Phillips, chairman of the Mis-souri Community Betterment yard-of-the-month project, announces the judging of the yards will start May 1 and continue through October.

Selection of a yard-of-themonth and two honorable mention awards will be made in each of the three city wards the first of each month. Signs designating the winners will be placed in the yards.

The awards are made on the basis of the general appearance of the yard and not on size.

The project, Mrs. Phillips said, initaited in the community last year, creates enthusiasm, competition and pride among the residents, thus making the city more attractive.

BACKGROUND

The Public Works Acceleration Act authorizes Federal grants -in-aid of from 50 to 75 percent of the cost of projects to local agencies to accelerate or initiate public works projects intended to provide immediate useful work for the unemployed and underemployed in eligible areas of the Nation. Eligible areas are (1) those areas which the Secretary of Labor designates each month as having been areas of substantial unemployment for at least 9 of the preceding 12 months and (2) those areas which are designated by the Secretary of Commerce under subsections (a) and (b) of section 5 of the Area Redevelopment Act as "redevelopment areas."

In determining whether a condition of substantial unemployment exists, the Secretary of Labor considers (1) whether the area has a labor surplus which is expected to continue for the next 2 to 4 months, (2) whether an unemployment rate of 6 or more percent of the total work force exists, (3) whether net non-agricultural labor requirements for 2 and 4 months hence indicate declining employment levels or no significant increase in labor requirements, and (4) whether the current or anticipated labor surplus is due primarily to seasonal or temporary factors. Lists of newly designated and terminated areas are published monthly by the Department of Labor in its publican "Area Labor Market Trends." At its request, ARA is informally advised by the Department of Labor, 10 or 15 days before the release of the Area Labor Market Trends, of the areas which are due to have their eligibility for accelerated public works (APW) assistance terminated because they are no longer burdened by substantial unemployment. ARA informally notifies the agencies administering the grant programs, such as CFA and PHS, of the impending

Certain areas have been designated by ARA as "redevelopment areas" on the basis of unemployment criteria set forth in section 5 of the Area Redevelopment Act. These designations are based on the findings of the Secretary of Labor with respect to area unemployment rates, both current and past. Redevelopment areas also designated on other criteria, such as family income. The unemployment criteria for designating an area as a redevelopment area under section 5 of the Area Redevelopment Act are as follows: 1. The rate of unemployment, excluding unemployment due primarily to temporary or seasonal factors, is currently 6 percent or more and averaged at least 6 percent for the qualifying time periods specified in (2) below.

2. The annual average rate of unemployment has

(a) 50 per cent above the national average for 3 of the preceding 4 calendar years, or

(b) 75 percent above the national average for 2 of the preceding 3 calendar years, or

(c) 100 percent above the national average for

1 of the preceding 2 calendar years.

Pursuant to the regulations issued by the Secretary of Commerce, ARA has the responsibility of terminating the designation of a redevelopment area when there has been such improvement in the economic circumstances of the area that it no longer meets the standards for designation as a redevelopment area. With respect to areas designated under standards of unemployment, the regulations specify that an area may not be terminated unless there has been a significant reduction in the rate of unemployment and such reduction in the rate of unemployment has continued for a reasonable period of time.

The reasonable period of time has ranged from 7 months to over 10 months and has averaged 9 months for such terminations to date. ARA notifies the areas and participating Federal agencies of such pending terminations. Accordingly, the participating Federal agencies are aware which areas are under consideration for termination many months before such termination.

Project approval and grant agreement proce-

Under regulations issued by the Department of Commerce (44 CFR 801), ARA has been designated to evaluate and coordinate the APW program. In addition, these regulations provide that all prospective projects, prior to any final commitment of funds, will be reviewed by ARA to assure that (1) adequate consideration is given to the relative needs of eligible areas, (2) at least one third of all APW funds are allocated to small urban and rural areas designated under section 5(b) of the Area Redevelopment Act, and (3) no more than 10 percent of all amounts allocated under the Public Works Acceleration Act are made available to any one State.

Prior to ARA review, however, the prospective projects are reviewed by a joint conference composed of representatives of the Federal agencies participating in the APW program. The approval action of the joint conference is known as programing. The programing action is followed by ARA clearance. The participating Federal agencies are advised of ARA clearance by memoran-

APW grants are made by the Federal agencies which administer the law under which the assistance is rendered. Accordingly, the head of the Federal agency normally approves the grants made by his agency.

Congress is considering the creation of a commission to undertake a comprehensive review of the laws, regulations, directives and systems which have grown up during the past two decades around the procurement of goods and services by the federal government from private industry. The commission would include, besides members of Congress, representatives of the executive branch, nongovernmental authorities and industry executives. Such a commission could help eliminate unnecessary authorities and industry executives. Such a commission could help eliminate unnecessary paper work, overlapping procedures, and time-consuming regulatory requirements. This should hold down costs of goods and services, with a consequent reduction in tax load.

A young man asked a foreman, whom he knew to be a Christian, if he had any right to go to his minister with a problem. The problem had nothing to do with religion, he explained; it had to do with his parents. How we miss the boat when we separate life from religion. God is not just concerned with our religious problems but with all our problems. Take your problems to church Sunday. God cares about you.

When a gravel road in resort territory gets too bumpy, they bring in a road scraper to smooth things over, but there's no device for leveling a choppy lake.

Getting a comfortable boat ride when the breeze is blowing depends on the boater's savvy at coping with a chop.

Today's pleasure craft is designed to "plane," so that much of its bottom is not in contact with the water when underway. Often waves contact the hull bottom amidships -- approximately beneath the seats. This can cause a bumpy ride. To minimize this motion, bring the boat's bow down so the point where it contacts the water is well head of the seats; then the sharp vee of the prow can divide waves effectively. The more primitive means of lowering the bow is to shift passengers and other movable weights, such as fuel tank, forward. You have to experiment to find the most effective trim, but don't try to achieve it by putting a heavy anchor in the bow locker where its bouncing can harm the interior finish.

It pays to experiment with motor tilt, too. Move the adjustment pin forward one hole at a time. Propeller thrust then lifts the stern more, puts the bow down and brings the sharp vee of the hull more into play. There may be some loss of efficiency, but on a long unwind run this trick results in a more comfortable ride.

If your boat begins to pound rather badly as you head into waves, the problem can be remedied by reducing speed. Or, it may help to cut into the waves at a slight angle, rather than take them head-on.

The American League, which made tracks over the National League in expanding to 12 teams for 1969, now is slowed down The Nationals were miffed when the Americans voted last winter without mutual consultation to admit Seattle and retreaded Kansas City to membership next season. It forced the Nationals to advance their expansion plans, originally targeted for not later than 1971, to 1969 also. They now are pondering the selection of two new cities from San Diego, Milwaukee, Dallas-Fort Worth, Buffalo and Mon-

The Nationals will meet in mid-May presumably to vote on the two new franchises. Until this is done, the Americans consider themselves stymied in their decision to split their league in two six-team divisions next year with playoffs to determine the circuit's pennant winner and World Series representative. At an American League owners meeting Thursday, President Joe Cronin said that the brass wants divisional play in 1969 but scheduling action has been delayed pending the Na. "It would be difficult if we went ahead with a division set-up not knowing what the National's two new teams will be or even if there will be two new teams," said Cronin. "So, in deference to the National League we took no action on the length of a 1969 schedule or composition of the divisions. "We will have representatives meet with the National League before its May meeting mutually to iron out problems we all are cognizant of. The American League then will meet on May 23 in Chicago to consider further plans for 1969."

If You Were the Judge

Bachelor Can't Stop Invasion of Women

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

When Bachelor Bob learned that a lady's club was about to buy a house directly across the street from his house, he became horrified. When he discovered that the club consisted of 1,000 women, he reacted like he had been shot in the back. Frantically, he checked the zoning regulations in the area and, to his relief, found that the area was restricted to one-family residences, schools, churches and private clubs. off to straining the females from buying the house.

"He can't stop us from buying the house," insisted the ladies in court, "because we're not violating the zoning regulations. We're a private club! We support literary and scientific activities and we're nonprofit."

"I believe in clubs for women," was Bob's answer, "but only when kindness fails. With 1,000 members, they haven't got a club. They've got a convention!"

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you consider it in viola. tion of the zoning regulations for the horde of women to buy the house?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! He held that the number of its members did not change the nature of the organization; that their functions clearly indicated it was a private club and, consequently, its purchase of the house would not be in violation of the zoning regulations which permitted private clubs.

Yard Beauty To Be Judged

NEW MADRID - Mrs. Caroline Phillips, chairman of the Missouri Community Betterment yard-of-the-month project, announces the judging of the yards will start May 1 and continue through October.

Selection of a yard-of-themonth and two honorable mention awards will be made in each of the three city wards the first of each month. Signs designating the winners will be placed in the yards.

The awards are made on the basis of the general appearance of the yard and not on size.

The project, Mrs. Phillips said, initaited in the community last year, creates enthusiasm, competition and pride among the residents, thus making the city more attractive.
